DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Species I, claims 1-8, 17-21, 27-35, and 45-54 in the reply filed on 27 October 2003 is acknowledged.

Claims 9-16, 22-26, 36-44, and 55-64 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 27 October 2003.

Claims 9-16, 22-26, 36-44, and 55-64 are canceled.

Further consideration has identified the need for further restriction.

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 27-35 and 45-54, drawn to a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display device, classified in class 349, subclass 187.
- II. Claims 1-8 and 17-21, drawn to a liquid crystal display device, classified in class 349, subclass 113.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case (1) the device can be made by depositing the reflective electrode only on the regions of the insulating layer desired, rather than depositing it everywhere and subsequently removing it from the regions of the insulating layer where it is not desired.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Invention I contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species A, claims 27-34, drawn to a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display device wherein an insulating layer is formed by randomly patterning a first insulating layer on a first substrate and covering said first insulating layer with a second insulating layer.

Species B, claims 45-54, drawn to a method of fabricating a liquid crystal display device wherein an insulating layer is randomly patterned on a first substrate and thinned (no second insulating layer step).

Invention II contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species C, claims 1-8, drawn to a liquid crystal display device wherein a first randomly patterned insulating layer on a first substrate is covered by a second insulating layer having a wavy surface.

Species D, claims 17-21, drawn to a liquid crystal display device wherein an insulating layer formed on a first substrate is defined by a thick region and a thin region (no second insulating layer).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species from A-B of invention I or a single disclosed species from C-D of invention II for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are considered generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Timothy L Rude whose telephone number is (571) 272-2301. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Thursday.
